SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

The husky black haired man is the most vocal at the table and appears to be almost an unofficial leader of the group though all at the table are men who are equally possessing of power and are mentally strong. They are not subservient to this man though they listen to him. The men are discussing how to react to a new system/regime/new players. They were sort of taken by surprise because while the current situation was one of several expected possibilities: these men had considered it of low probability hence hadn't developed plans for it.

The idea of trade/dealing is present. The new situation will be more expensive and time-consuming: there are concerns of increased administrative burdens and increased risk to their power base. What used to be a well-greased process will now take several steps of red-tape and result in lesser returns.

There are two main courses of action being thought of: some present desire to fight the system and cause a return to the old system; others feel that they need to come up with ways to cause the new system to bend and be more malleable to their needs. Figuratively, they are trying to decide whether to fight one big direct frontal assault or a series of well-placed and well-timed guerilla skirmishes.

Idea that despite their obvious power, these men are behind the scenes manipulators: that publicity or acknowledgement of their actions is an anathema to them.

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

The men at the meeting are discussing possible courses of action. The discussions involve lines on maps: divisions/assignments of territories. The men at the meeting represent different interests/organizations. For them to have a meeting is somewhat unusual and is a tricky business. Despite this, all have agreed to a unified approach. The plan has one goal but each man will cause different things to be done in support of it.

The plan will be implemented by each man going back to his organization and tasking subgroups to do specific things. Viewed from the bottom or the outside the actions appear to be disjointed and unrelated but in actuality they are all integral subparts of a larger plan. The idea is to cause purposeful turmoil/ directed chaos.

SG1A

~~SECRET~~ ROLE: Involves paying bureaucrats off to get own people inserted into useful/key positions. Key not meaning high up but rather practical: ie., the form signer, the inspector, etc. He already has people belonging to/sympathetic to his organization inserted in lower echelons: the trick now is to get them maneuvered into the right positions. This used to be a simple matter of paying the right bribes: now it's not so easy, due to new attitudes/penalties for graft. Now, [REDACTED] is planning to use a combination of coercion and bribery against one targetted high up individual to accomplish what needs to be done. SG1A

SG1A [REDACTED] ROLE: His organization's role involves delivering a shipment of automatic rifles somewhere illegally/under the table. These will be delivered by ship. The automatic weapons are black SG1A and of foreign (non-US) manufacture.

SG1A [REDACTED] ROLE: [REDACTED] roles involves banks and the idea of manipulating different currencies. There is also the idea of manipulating stock prices.

Also present at the meeting was the idea that one of the men present would be responsible for making sure that somebody (government official) specific is eliminated or assassinated.
